that he cannot secure his witnesses be-fore the early part of next week.

Widespread interest was shown by the citizens of Ogden today in the decision of Judges J. A. Howell and N. J. Harris to summon a grand jury to investigate the Martin charge and the blackmaic cases. The general feeling expressed was one of satisfaction, because it is believed that many persons who would fear to furnish possibly valuable evidence to the officers will not hesitate to go before the grand jury because of the absolute secrecy which is maintained over the deliberations of such a body.

It is required by law that the grand jurys be drawn fifteen days prior to the Alleged Faulty Repair of Automobile Is Cause of Complaint Being Filed.

Special to The Tribune. istrate to Take Up Martin

OGDEN, Dec. 11.-That he sustained painful and permanent injuries as the resuit of L. H. Becraft's failure to properly repair an automobile is the unusual contention made by William M. Bostaph, former city engineer, in bringing suit against the defendant in an effort to recover $1550 damages. The plaintiff is suing for $1000 general damages for his alleged injuries, $500 for special dam-alleged injuries, $500 for special damsges as a result of his not being able to complete certain engineering work and $50 for medical attendance.

It is represented in the complaint that the transmission gear of the automobile owned by Mr. Bostaph was broken in such a way that the machine would start forward when the engine was cranked.
It was taken to the Becraft repair shop on April 25, 1912, according to the complaint, and special attention was called to the defect regarding the fransmission. When the owner received his machine on May 10, 1912, he was given to understand that the defect had been remedled. OGDEN, Dec. 11.—Regardless of the fact that a grand jury will be summoned Henry Martin, charged with a murderous inderstand that the defect had been remedied.

He had driven the car into the Becraft garage to obtain a supply of gasoline and was cranking the engine when the same defect presented Itself. Unable to escape from in front of the car when it started forward, Mr. Bostaph was crushed between his own car and another machine standing in the garage. He asserts that the injuries both below and above his knees forced him to remain in the house for twelve days, making it impossible to enter upon an engineering contract which would have netted him $25 per day. Also it is contended that the injury to one leg as a result of the accident will be permanent. assault upon Detective David Edwards.

OGDEN, Dec. 11.—The members of six fraternal organizations were present this afternoon when funeral services for the late Henry C. Wardleigh, the pioneer resident of Ogden, were conducted in the First Methodist church at 2:30 o'clock. In addition to the hundreds of friends from Ogden, there were present all of the state grand lodge officers of the Knights of Pythias and Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

The marked tribute of respect for the

that he would be satisfied with either one, but prefers Justice Rhees because of his wider experience. It was Justice Rhees who presided in the preliminary hearing of Henry Southworth in 1911 on the charge of murdering Nod Hanks, manager of the Don Philippini band, at Glenwood park. The hearing in the Southworth case was unique in that the iawn in front of Justice Rhees's home constituted the "courtroom."

The county attorney would prefer to take the case before Justice Shurtliff, although he, too, might be induced to accept the Pleasant Vlew magistrate. Attorney Jensen said that these two justices would be considered when he holds a conference with Martin's counsel. If they fall to reach a decision, then Judge Reeder is entitled, after a reasonable time, to name the presiding magistrate. Attorney Chez is anxious to hold the preliminary hearing of his client at an early date, to enter upon the case next saturday if possible. It is anticipated that several days will be required to dispose of the matter. County Attorney Jensen is not so anxious for an early hearing because of other court matters which will keep him engaged Friday and Saturday, and also because of the belief that he cannot secure his witnesses before the early part of next week. the Knights of Pythias and Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

The marked tribute of respect for the memory of the well-known man was not only indicated by the large attendance, but also by the abundance of flowers, offerings from persons residing in all parts of Utah. Because of his long record as a grand lodge officer in both of the organizations mentioned, Mr. Wardleigh was well known in almost every city and town of the state.

The funeral oration was delivered by the Rev. P. A. Simpkin of Salt Lake, who is one of the grand lodge officers of the Odd Fellows. The ritualistic services of the G. A. R. and the Ladies of the G. A. R. were held at the church, while the grand lodge officers conducted the final rites of the K. of P. and I. O. F. at the grave in Ogden City cemetery. Other organizations represented were the Pythian Sisters and the Rebekah chapter of Ogden.

WILL WAIVE PRELIMINARY.

Attorney for Joseph E. Higginbotham Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN Dec. 11.—That the preliminary hearing of Joseph E. Higginbotham before United States Commissioner S. T. Corn tomorrow will result in a waiving of the examination rather than a long-drawn-out trial was the announcement made by his attorney, Judge H. H. Henderson, today, Higginbotham is which is maintained over the deliberations of such a body.

It is required by law that the grand jurors be drawn fifteen days prior to the opening of the district court term during which they are required to serve. The January term of the district court opens on January 2, 1914. It will, therefore, be necessary to draw the ventre for the grand jury not later than December 18. This affords ample time for the district court judges to issue the call and orders for the grand jury investigation.

The 1914 list of about 430 citizens who will be called for trial jury service during the year is now in course of preparation by David W. Evans and Edwin Dix. the jury commissioners. It is ponsible for the county clerk, with the county attorney and county treasurer acting as tellers, to draw fifty names for prospective grand jury service.

District Attorney John C. Davis announced today that he would not make a formal request for a special rossecutor to conduct the grand jury investigation. He will be assisted, however, by County Attorney David Jensen. The district attorney explained that he had planned to hold a conference with Siste's Attorney A. R. Barnes, but not for the purpose of asking for assistance other than that of the county prosecutor.

It is not believed that the cases of John the body and the contract was originally awarded to the Jogalong Transfer company at 1100 per year, but that company almost immediately decided that it did not care.

S. Barrett at the contract price of $1615 per year.

This contract was originally awarded to the Jogalong Transfer company at $1000 per year, but that company almost immediately decided that it did not care for the job at that price. Eight others in addition to Mr. Barrett bid when the government sought another contract. Postmaster Browning is not inclined to believe that Mr. Barrett will care to retain his contract at the $1515 price when the parcel post weight limit has been increased to fifty pounds after the first of the year. In accordance with its original agreement to perform the work for thirty days, the Jogalong company will hold the contract until about December 20. asking for assistance other than that of the county prosecutor.

It is not believed that the cases of Jo-seph E. Higginbotham and Myron A. Smith, held for trial on federal charges, will be considered by the local grand jury because of the fact that the federal grand jury will have jurisdiction in their cases.

OGDEN, Dec. 11.—While members of the family were attending the funefal of Henry C. Wardleigh this afternoon, a daylight burglary occurred at the home, 2710 Quincy avenue, and the burglar escaped with $20 in cash and jewelry valued at $200. The persons who were expected to remain in the house during the funeral services were late in arriving, and it is believed that the burglar was frightened away by their arrival.

The articles taken include two rings, one set with a diamond, the other with an opal; two women's gold watches, one engraved with the name Elizabeth Wardleigh; two gold watch fobs; a gold bracelet and a collection of old coins. It is thought that the robber was in the act of opening Mr. Wardleigh's desk when frightened away. An unlocked safe on the rear porch, containing a $500 diamond ring and valuable papers, was not melested. Special to The Tribune.

As a further means of alding the movement the society has arranged for a Red Cross benefit at one of the local motion picture theaters. The special film departing "The Fight for Human Lives" was shown for the first time today and Saturday. The society will be given a percentage of the receipts.

Skating Rink to Open.

Special to The Tribune.

OGDEN, Dec. II.—If weather conditions continue favorable the large municipal skating rink at Monroe avenue and Twenty-ninth street will be thrown open to the skaters early next week, according to B. Van der Schultt, superintendent of the park system. Water has been turned into the shallow basin, but because of the large area to be covered the water will be permitted to run until Saturday. Within a few days after that time the tee should have strained a sufficient thickness to permit of skaters being admitted to the rink. Several electric lights have been placed about the artificial lake for the benefit of those desiring to skate at night. Special to The Tribune.

HOLD UP A SALOON

Are Robbed by Masked Men.

Special to The Tribune. OGDEN, Dec. 11 .- The Hansen saloon at 2263 Washington avenue, was the scene of a typical wild west holdup tonight, when two masked men, armed with automatic guns, entered the place fifteen minutes before the 3 o'clock closing hour, lined everybody up along the bar and secured $250 in cash, together with a diamond stud valued at $135 and a gold watch. The robbers escaped out the rear door, no trace of them being found when the police arrived a few minutes after the holdup.

In addition to Gus Hansen, the proprietor, and Joe Nokiby, a bartender, there were six patrons in the salcon when the two men, one wearing a black mask and the other a handkerchief mask, entered the front door. Each bandli carried a large automatic, and every man in the place was told to place his hands flat on the bar.

With a gun pressed against his back, Hansen was forced to open the safe, from which $200 was secured. The robbers went through the pockets of some of, the men on the outside of the bar, securing small sums of money. About $30 was taken from the till of the cash register. While the holdup was going on Charles Cross, manager of a local narness company, entered the salcon and was immediately lined up with the others. A diamond stud and $20 in cash was taken from him. An attempt was made to take a diamond stud from Hansen's shirt, but the jewel was not easily dislodged and the bandit abandoned his efforts, taking the proprietor's gold watch instead.

While one of the robbers was forcing Hansen to open the safe the other kept the bartender and patrons covered, warning them not to sye him too closely, as they might be able to recognize him later. Nels Knudeon, 478 Seventeenth street, one of the men who was not searched carried $125 in his pocket. The police were given a meager description of the handits, one of whom is said to have talked with a Swedish accent.
